FIRM SIZE UK

FOCUS Complex, political cases

It isn't hyperbole to say that, with clients including Snoop Dogg, Busta Rhymes and 50 Cent, Philip Trott is a legendary figure in immigration law. He represents the likes of Endemol, politicians and Tier 1 HNWs, and the Home Office regularly calls on him to advise on immigration reform. Trott says one fact remains true across the HNW spectrum: 'Every client has a solution to a problem that may be more easily solved than by throwing money at it.' He has recently advised on applications made 'exceptionally and outside the immigration rules', managed sponsor licence applications for corporations under the points-based system, and challenged refusals of leave for HNW clients.
